General Information

What kind of work is covered by lead-based paint activity regulations?

Lead-based paint regulations apply to inspection, risk assessment, project design and abatement activities in pre-1978 target housing and child-occupied facilities (but not to renovation, repair and painting projects).

Who administers the lead-based paint activities program?

EPA administers the lead-based paint program only in areas where states, territories or tribes are not authorized by EPA to operate their own lead abatement programs. The states administered by EPA include: Alaska, Arizona, Florida, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, New York, South Carolina, South Dakota, and Wyoming or American Samoa, Guam, the Northern Marianas and Tribal Lands.

All other states have EPA-authorized lead-based paint programs. Additionally, the Cherokee Nation, Lower Sioux Nation, Upper Sioux Community, and Bois Forte Band have EPA-authorized lead-based paint programs.

States and Tribes with Lead-Paint Abatement Programs Authorized by EPA (EPA operates the lead abatement program in the States shown in gray)

Choose a state or territory from the map below

Authorized Tribes

- Cherokee Nation
- Lower Sioux Nation
- Upper Sioux Community
- Bois Forte Band

Certification and Training

How does one find an accredited training provider in areas administered by EPA?

Finding an accredited training provider is the first step in getting certified. Use this searchable database to help locate accredited training programs in areas where EPA administers the lead-based paint activities program or contact the National Lead Information Center at 1-800-424-LEAD (5323).

After completing training, how does an individual or firm become certified in lead-based paint inspection, assessment and/or abatement in areas administered by EPA?

Note: Remember, there are two types of required certifications – certified individuals must work for certified firms when performing lead-based paint activities.

Fee and refund policy

Notification Requirements

When do I have to notify EPA about abatement activities?

A certified firm must notify EPA at least 5 business days prior to conducting lead-based paint abatement activities, with one exception. When abatement activities are required in response to either an Elevated Blood Lead Level determination or emergency abatement order, notice must be provided no later than the day abatement activities begins.

In addition, the firm must notify EPA of any of the following changes to the original notice:

- If the abatement activity will begin before the original start date, or if the location changes, notice must be provided at least 5 business days before the start date.
- If the abatement activity is delayed, notice of the new start date must be provided to EPA on or before the original start date.
- For cancellation or other changes, notice must be provided on or before the start date, or, if work has already begun, within 24 hours of the change.
